Seven Named To Join NCHSAA Hall of Fame

CHAPEL HILL—Seven more outstanding individuals in the annals of state prep athletics have been selected for induction into the North Carolina High School Athletic Association Hall of Fame.

Harvey Brooks of Trenton, Tunney Brooks of Lumberton, Tom Brown of Maiden, Bob Catapano of Raleigh, the late Joe Hunt of Hendersonville, Carolyn Rogers of Hertford, and Que Tucker of Morrisville have been named as the 25th group of inductees to join the prestigious hall. That brings to 132 the number enshrined.

The new inductees were honored during special halftime ceremonies at a football game at Kenan Stadium in November, when North Carolina played Virginia Tech. The University of North Carolina designated the day as the 26th annual NCHSAA Day. The new class will officially be inducted at the special Hall of Fame banquet next spring in Chapel Hill.

The NCHSAA Hall of Fame is supported in part by a special grant from GlaxoSmithKline.

"These individuals joining the Association Hall of Fame this year have had a tremendous impact on high school athletics across North Carolina," said NCHSAA commissioner Davis Whitfield. "Their accomplishments are impressive, but the character they exemplify and the lives they touched are truly representative of

He also coached three years at Bunker Hill and chalked up an overall career mark of 352 victories against just 132 defeats and seven ties. The stadium at Maiden was named in his honor in 2000.

An Act Of Sportsmanship By North Stanly Runner Highlights Regional Meet At Dan Nicholas Park

There are not always enough "good" stories in sports but here is one that truly represents the essence of high school athletics and the North Carolina High School Athletic Association.

Tommy Harkey, athletic director at North Stanly High School, says, "This event at the regional cross country meet had spectators clapping, cheering, and crying at the same time." Drew Laucher, the North Stanly cross-country coach, wrote a story about it for the local paper, The Stanly News and Press, which drew additional attention to it.

Jenna Huff is a runner for North Stanly who was competing at Dan Nicholas Park in the 2-A Midwest Regional for the right to advance to the state championship. Late in the race she is in 22nd place, trailing Deb Gunther of Cuthbertson by about five meters. Suddenly Gunther screams in pain and grabs her hip, almost stopping.

Instead of sprinting past Gunther to gain a spot in the standings, Huff slows down, checks on her and tells her, "Come on," gently putting her hand on Gunther's elbow.

They shuffle along toward the finish line, and as coach Laucher says, "As they approach the finish line, the crowd catches on. Applause and cheers erupt. Jenna puts Deb in front of her, just as it would have been before Deb's hip gave out. Jenna didn't take that point; it was always Deb's so it stayed Deb's."

That in itself is remarkable, but it also had an impact on the meet. It turned out that Cuthbertson and Salisbury tied for first in the regional meet, and ties in cross country means that the performance of the sixth-place finisher is used. Cuthbertson's sixth-place runner: Deb Gunther.

As Harkey noted, "Jenna could have passed the Cuthbertson runner, but instead made sure she went across the finish line in front of her, which ended up giving Cuthbertson the victory over Salisbury."

Coach Laucher was right when he said, "Cuthbertson won the regional meet that day. Jenna Huff won the crowd."

Stories like this may be fairly rare in the world of sports today, but fortunately they are not so rare in the realm of NCHSAA athletics. Our thanks to North Stanly High School and The Stanly News and Press for their accounts, and most especially we salute Jenna Huff of North Stanly High School for exhibiting the values that we hope our sports programs promote. *

Advertisers Help Make NCHSAA Championship Programs Successful

American Advantage

Whether it is at the local high school level, in a collegiate program, the professional ranks—or with the North Carolina High School Athletic Association—advertisers are critical to the success of a souvenir game program.

The NCHSAA has been able to produce outstanding championship programs in a number of different sports over the years, largely because of good support from corporate sponsors and from Chapel Hill, Carrboro and the surrounding area. The books feature not only up-to-date information about the championship participants and lots of copy about special NCHSAA programs and activities, but they include advertisements for these supporting companies.

The Association wishes to salute those advertisers, whose ads you will be seeing in championship publications throughout the year, and we certainly hope you will take advantage of their goods and services when appropriate.

The list includes both NCHSAA corporate sponsors, who also have ads in the programs, along with others who are just advertising and supporting the Association in that way. At press time for the Bulletin, the 2010-11 championship program advertisers include:

AAA Carolinas Joins With NCHSAA As Major Corporate Partner

CHAPEL HILL—AAA Carolinas has joined the North Carolina High School Athletic as a presenting sponsor honoring high school athletes who achieve academic excellence, AAA Carolinas and the NCHSAA have announced.

AAA will be the presenting sponsor of both the regional and the state basketball championships and also will be sponsoring the Association's popular Scholar-Athlete program, according to North Carolina High School Athletic Association Commissioner Davis Whitfield.

The program awards North Carolina high school athletes who display exemplary academic performance.

"We are excited to have AAA on board as part of the Association's corporate partner family," said Whitfield. "It is a outstanding organization that enhances the quality of life in our state in a number of ways, and we're sure their involvement will enhance our basketball tournament championships as well as our Scholar-Athlete program. We look forward to a long and mutually beneficial relationship."

"There is no more cherished resource than our youth, and by encouraging academic excellence among student athletes, we have a chance to honor and promote the leaders of tomorrow," said Dave Parsons, president and CEO of AAA Carolinas, who added he hoped AAA's involvement would help increase participation in the NCHSAA's voluntary Scholar-Athlete program.

The NCHSAA Scholar-Athlete program, one of the Association's most popular voluntary programs, recognizes excellence in the classroom as well as on the playing court or field. The program includes recognition of varsity teams that attain certain grades as well as individual athletes.

Individual Scholar-Athletes attain at least a 3.5 grade point average for the semester in which he or she competed. The award is based on first semester grades for fall and winter sports and second semester grades for spring sports, and the school submits the nomination form verifying the grade point average on behalf of the athlete or team.

In the team division, a varsity team earns Scholar-Athlete recognition by attaining a 3.1 aggregate GPA for that designated semester. The school receives a certificate honoring the accomplishment and each member of the squad also receives a certificate.

The teams with the top GPA's in the state in their respective sports are recognized at the NCHSAA Annual Meeting in May and receive a plaque from AAA and NCHSAA.

AAA Carolinas, an affiliate of the American Automobile Association, was founded in 1922 as a not-for-profit organization that now serves more than 1.8 million members with travel, automobile and insurance services and is an advocate for the safety and security of all travelers. *

NCHSAA Teams Serve Effectively In Their Communities

A number of North Carolina High School Athletic Association teams have been actively involved in their respective communities with some worthy causes.

In early October, the Big East Conference women's golf teams dedicated their match to breast cancer awareness. According to Susan McGuire, head women's golf coach at Hunt High School in Wilson, the athletes and their families bought t-shirts and raised over $250 for the Susan B. Komen for the Cure fund in the name of the Big East Conference.

Coach McGuire said, "As a 14-year breast cancer survivor, I have always wanted to do something to help others be aware of the possibilities and to honor those who have survived and to remember those that didn't. The coaches all supported the idea and I am very proud of our conference and our girls."

Teams involved included Hunt, Fike, Southern Nash, Northern Nash, Nash Central and Rocky Mount.

The Greenville Daily Reflector reported that Pitt County high school volleyball players are very active around the community.

Winterville South Central is hosted a volleyball event for breast cancer awareness in early October, using both gymnasiums on the South Central campus for the fundraiser. Teams involved included South Central, D.H. Conley, Greenville Rose, Farmville Central, Rocky Mount, New Bern and Wilmington Hoggard. The goal was to raise $3,000 for cancer research.

In addition, D.H. Conley recently completed a service project that resulted in blankets for children in the pediatric intensive care unit in a local hospital.

Conley athletes made blankets for Pitt County Memorial Hospital in August and around 35 of them were delivered to the hospital in September.

The players used their own money to purchase the material to make the blankets, and they gathered following a preseason volleyball practice to finish making them in one night.

According to the Reflector, Conley volleyball coach Jennifer Gillikin said, "Sometimes high school kids can get too involved in winning and worry only about what happens on the court. This was a great chance for our team to come together and it's important that they learn to support the community that they play in."

Our congratulations go to all these schools and their athletes for their tremendous effort on and off the playing court, field or course! ★

Free Online Course On The Role Of The Parent In Sports Now Available From NFHS

INDIANAPOLIS, IN—A new online education course—The Role of the Parent in Sports—is now available through the National Federation of State High School Associations (NFHS) at www.nfhslearn.com.

Similar to the Concussion in Sports—What You Need to Know online course released in May, the new parent course is being offered at no cost. Anyone can register for the free course at www.nfhslearn.com.

"Parents of students who participate in athletics make a huge difference in the quality of the sport experience for their sons and daughters," said Tim Flannery, NFHS assistant director who directs the NFHS Coach Education Program. "Parents unintentionally spoil the educational experience of their children at times by the way they talk to them after games, behave in the stands and interact with coaches and officials. This online course provides information and resources to help parents understand their role in ensuring an educational experience for their son or daughter."

The NFHS Coach Education Program was started in 2007, and more than 140,000 coaches have taken the core course—Fundamentals of Coaching. Forty-five of the 51 NFHS member associations have adopted the course.

In addition to the core courses (Fundamentals of Coaching and NFHS First Aid for Coaches), eight sport-specific courses are available in football, basketball, soccer, softball, cheer and dance, spirit safety, wrestling and volleyball. The program also includes four elective courses and the two free courses

The NFHS offers coaches the ability to become Level 1 certified as an Accredited Interscholastic Coach. In addition to theFundamentals of Coaching course, coaches must complete NFHS First Aid for Coaches, or its equivalent, and one of the sport-specific courses or Teaching Sport Skills, and then can apply for certification online.

State University.

Schramme, who was named the Most Valuable Player in the championship, snapped a 1-1 tie in the 69th minute when he tallied off an assist from Tyler Zimmerman for the game winner. Schramme also scored the game-winning goal in overtime in the Crusaders' regional victory over Jacksonville.

Gibbons took a 1-0 lead on a Schramme goal in the 13th minute, his 17th of the season, but Hickory came back to knot the score in the 61st minute when freshman Carlos Zevilla found the back of the net, assisted by Conner Hartman.

Shelby Edges East Duplin In PK's To Win State 2-A Soccer Crown

RALEIGH—It went down to penalty kicks, and Shelby outlasted East Duplin by a score of 3-2 in the North Carolina High School Athletic Association state 2-A men's soccer championship at the Curtis and Jacqueline Dail Soccer Stadium at N.C. State University.

The teams battled through 80 minutes of regulation play to a 2-2 tie, then went through the overtime periods scoreless before having to go nine rounds of PK's, with Shelby eventually connecting on seven to six for East Duplin.

Shelby goalkeeper Seth Crow, a 6-1, 217-pound senior, was the Most Valuable Player of the championship in unusual fashion. After the first round of five penalty kicks ended in a 3-3 draw, he was tabbed as the sixth kicker and connected on his PK. Then, in the ninth round of kicks, he made a save on East Duplin's Jose Dominguez to clinch the championship.

Shelby had taken a 1-0 lead on an own goal and then East Duplin tied it shortly before halftime on a goal by junior forward Wesley Sholar.

The Panthers then went up 2-1 in the 43rd minute on an unassisted tally by Joel Zepada. The game-tying goal came in the 68th minute when Mason McCarter of the Golden Lions scored off an assist from Ben Cheaney.

Shelby played in its third consecutive state championship match and won its second straight state title, as the Golden Lions lost in the '08 final to Cardinal Gibbons and beat Pittsboro Northwood 2-1 in last year's title match. The Golden Lions ended the year 22-3-2.

East Duplin enjoyed its best season in school history, advancing past the third round of the NCHSAA playoffs for the first time, and finished the season with a record of 21-3-4.

RALEIGH—Senior forward Bryan Aguirre knocked in two goals and had an assist to lead Hendersonville to a 5-0 romp over Durham North Carolina School of Science and Math to capture the North Carolina High School Athletic Association state 1-A men's soccer championship Saturday at the Curtis and Jacqueline Dail Soccer Stadium at N.C. State University.

Aguirre, a 6-0, 180-pound forward and one of the NCHSAA's all-time leading scorers, ended his career with 156 goals as the Bearcats spurted to a 3-0 lead at halftime and then scored twice in the first three minutes of the second half to coast to victory.

Aguirre was named the Most Valuable Player of the championship. Ahmad Jarrar had a goal and added two assists for the Bearcats.

Hendersonville made its second consecutive appearance in the final after beating Dixon 3-0 for the state championship last year and ended the season with a 26-2-1 mark. The Bearcats did not lose in their last 22 matches.

NCSSM, which lost for only the second time against 20 victories, won the 2007 1-A crown in its only previous men's soccer title appearance.

Durham Jordan Blanks Myers Park 2-0 In NCHSAA 4-A Soccer Final

RALEIGH—Senior forward Monbo Bokar had a goal and an assist to help lift Durham Jordan past Charlotte Myers Park 2-0 to win the North Carolina High School Athletic Association state 4-A men's soccer championship at the Curtis and Jacqueline Dail Soccer Stadium at N.C. State University.

Bokar assisted Matthew Feigler on the game's first goal in the 26th minute and then tallied in the 75th minute to secure the victory.

A stellar defensive effort by the Falcons limited Myers Park to zero shots on goal, although the Mustangs did have a goal nullified by offsides which would have tied the contest with about 10 minutes remaining.

Junior midfielder Bryan Roque, who helped push the Jordan attack forward and also played well defensively, earned the championship Most Valuable Player award.

Jordan recorded its 15th shutout of the season and won its six state playoff games by a total of 19-3. The Falcons won their third NCHSAA state soccer championship, with previous titles in 2001 and 1990, and completed a perfect 25-0 mark under veteran head coach Steve Turner.

Myers Park, which ended the year 25-2, was in the championship match for the fourth time with a 1-2 record in previous finals. The Mustangs won the '08 4-A crown and were runners-up in 2003 and 1988.
