A NOTE FROM THE EDITOR

February 17, 2022

Welcome All Championship Fans!

The NCHSAA Individual Wrestling Championship is back in the Greensboro Coliseum and we are excited for the three days of competition to crown 56 individual champions and four team state champions.

The NCHSAA Wrestling Championship Program has gone fully digital this year and now features more than just the brackets and limited championship information. Each day, brackets in this edition will be updated at the conclusion of matches. You can also follow along with the tournament brackets and scoring live on TrackWrestling.com.

New to the program this year and after months of diligent research, we have been able to compile the medalists for each individual wrestling tournament back to 1989. This research would not have been possible without the assistance of many people in the wrestling community. However, I want to specifically thank J. Mike Blake, a member of the media and a teacher at Cardinal Gibbons High School, for his work in helping us to uncover historical records and information about the brackets for each wrestling tournament back to 1989.

Without the discovery of this information, it would not have been possible to compile the list of medalists by weight class or by school. Simply put, the tireless effort to dig up the old historical information made a complete update of the records possible and helps us to highlight the outstanding achievements of many individual wrestlers and programs in this year's digital program and on the NCHSAA Website.

We are thrilled to have you here at the tournament this weekend and hope you will enjoy your time at the Greensboro Coliseum.

NCHSAA
Assistant Commissioner
